The expenses of one of these big stables, "said a well known turfman yesterduy, "are present than the public at large has any idea of. Take the leading stable of last year, that of H. B. Duryea, which was really owned in H. P. Whitney, as an example. The stable who more than $200,000 in stakes and purses during the season, yet it is safe to say that there was no profit, if any, to speak of. To jockeys, Shaw and Hildebrand, were under contract to the stable to begin with. Shaw received about $6,000 in salary, while Hildebrand got all of $10,000 for his services. A trainer like John W. Rogers must receive probably $10,000 in salary and 10 per cent. of the winnings of the stable, which would of the winnings of the stable, which would at the winners. Joe Grim Draws Blood in Fight With Burke. After a lapse of over two weeks Joe Grim, the Italian with the iron jaw, entered the ring again last Thursday night at the Broad, way A. C., Philadelphia, Grim met Billy Burke. The latter did not undertake to knock out Grim in six rounds, as he tried that trick once before and failed. On Thursday night Grim surprised his friends by making a gallant stand, wading in at every turn and exchanging blow for blow. As a consequence the mili was even up at the finish. In the sixth, Grim cut loose and soon had Burke's mose bleeding. At the end of the round Burke was tired and had to hold on to save himself from punishment. The preliminaries were lively. Billy williams beat Johnny Murphy, Vernon Campbell outpointed Billy Dinkle, Buck Lincoln knocked out Gus Feitman in three rounds, and Eddie Leuny of Chicago defeated Hughey Gallagher in six rounds. Have Jurisdiction Gver the sport.

New Englanders are likely to be able to enjoy the sport of horseracing very shortly.

A prominent member of the Jockey Club of New York is the authority for the following statement:

"The Governor of New Hampshire has just signed a bill incorporating the New England Breeders Club. The charter was secured in behalf of prominent breeding interests in New England, and is calculated to give Boston and its vicinity racing of the same character as that furnished by the racing associations in the neighborhood of New York. The law forbids pool selling, bookmaking and all other forms of gambling on the grounds of the new association. The stake and purse races and steeplechases will be conducted under the rules and authority of the Jockey Club of the State of New York."

For a long time horsemen of the New England States have wanted to have running horse meetings, but the laws have in a way prevented them being held, although the trotting meetings are held in all the States and draw big crowds. With the exception of the hunt meets at the Brookline Country Club and similar affairs that have team to-morrow to pit against the New York Nationals in the first game of the season. In addition to Dominick Mullaney, Frank Butler and other noted players, he willflave all of Manayer McGraw's extra players, and the game promises to be hotly contested. Bowerman and Elliott reached Savannah to-day and both are in good condition. Sam Mertes is on his way from California. Mathewson, Elliott and Taylor practised the so-called "spit" ball to-day and catchers Marshall and Bowerman say that all three twirlers have mastered it.

Minager McGraw has received word that catcher Roger Bresnahan will join the team in Birmingham, Ala., the early part of next week.

GREAT SPEEDWAY FOR AUTOS

PLANS OF ONE IN NEW JERSEY ARE ON HANDSOME SCALE.

Tour of Investigation Yesterday Seems to Assure Execution-A Twenty Mile Private Club Course Between New York and Philadelphia Outlined.

Immediate interest among the officials of representative automobile organizations and wealthy individual sportsmen has been aroused by the project of building in New Jersey a twenty mile speedway for motor ars, which will furnish normal road conditions for hig competitions and combine a two mile oval track and a four mile straight-away. The scheme has interested all classes of automobile users, for it has been presented in a form that would make it available as a permanent, all the year round testing ground for the new models of manufacturground for the new models of manufactur-ers, a place for the "tuning up" of cars en-tered for big races, a course for the holding of international cup contests from which, being private property, the public could be excluded absolutely and a track for matinée meets of short races. It would, in short, be operated on a basis similiar to that of a private driving club, except that it would be on a scale large enough to satisfy the broad needs of automobilists.

It requires only $500,000 to purchase the being taken in it by wealthy sportsmen alone seems to insure its execution. The man who originally conceived the idea is J. A. Kunkel of Pennington, Mercer county, N. J., who is not an automobilist, but is the wealthy citizen of the place and father-in-law of Emerson Brooks of the Automobile Club of America. Knowing that such a private speeding road was desirable to automobilists, Mr. Kunkel, with W. D. Hunt, cashier of the First National Bank of Pennington, as his agent secured options of purchase on all the land necessary in Mercer county, a total of 400 acres from about sixty different owners and obtained a charter for the enterprise under the name of the Automobile Intercity Speedway Club. over with the purchasing options to those who subscribe the necessary funds, and with-out profit, as Mr. Kunkel's interest is in the benefit that will be derived by Pennington from the execution of the project.
